FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Edible Software is Ready to Exhibit

For the First Time at Natural Products Expo East

Houston, TX – [September 12, 2017] – Edible Software is excited to add a new trade show to its roster. September 14th- 16th, Edible Software will be exhibiting at the Natural Products Expo East in booth 4709. We are excited to present our new product, the Live Sales Order App.

The Live Sales Order App allows you to assist customers with selecting and reserving lots for further processing in your Edible Software System.

 Edible Software's "Live Sales Order App" Features include:

- Performs data syncing by loading customers pricing and item information to their device.
- Ability to manually adjust sales prices along with item quantities.
- Inventory lot allocation
- Sales Orders are synced directly into Edible Software.

For more information about the Live Sales Order App, give Edible Software a call or visit booth 4709.

Throughout the development process of new products, our clients' needs are kept in mind; thus ensuring that our clients have the competitive advantage. The Live Sales Order App was created to make online order entry more Efficient and Accurate for the end user.

Specials
We will have tradeshow rebates available at the show along with other special offers you will receive at our booth (www.ediblesoftware.com)

About Natural Products Expo East
The Natural Products Industry continues to grow and as a result, Natural Products Expo east is growing too. More retail buyers are walking the show floor at Expo East than ever before, looking for the newest quality products to bring back to their stores. This means even greater opportunities to expose your brand to the right audience.

About Edible Software
